

We believe that access to quality health care is a basic human right. We are acutely aware that with no health insurance and with language barriers, quality healthcare is often out of reach for residents and newcomers to our community. Throughout Liz's career in nursing and health care, she observed first-hand the adverse effects on people's health status without access to primary care. As a small business owner, Geof made certain that his employees had access to health insurance as part of their benefit package.

Jesus teaches us to welcome strangers. CHH has a proven history of doing just that. We appreciate the way CHH uses innovative and creative approaches in their programming and how they focus on the whole person, not just a "medical" problem. We like the way they collaborate with other faith-based and not-for-profit organizations to enable their patients and community members to access services that CHH is not able to provide. As their advocate CHH assists those they serve as they navigate complex systems in our community.

Natural Helpers training takes place in the lobby of the clinic on a Saturday morning. The Natural Helpers Program is an innovative approach to welcoming and walking alongside immigrants who need orientation and assistance accessing resources in the community.

We have supported CHH over the years and observed the resiliency of this sometimes-fledgling organization. But thanks to the committed staff, volunteers, and community supporters, CHH has repeatedly pivoted responding to the changing community needs of our most vulnerable populations.

We are honored to help meet the goals of the Welcome Home Capital Campaign. This is one way we can give back to the community we love, and support organizations that align with our values and beliefs. Center for Healing and Hope is a precious community resource. We are glad to do our part to ensure that this organization is here for the long term.

Tune in next month as we share more stories about the Welcome Home Campaign and our 25th anniversary!

Want to participate in the campaign?

Click here to learn more and contribute

CENTER FOR HEALING
& HOPE